¡ TEACHING HISTORY !

Columbus College of Art & Design

Adjunct Faculty – Introduction to Drawing for Entertainment Design

Supervisor: Laurenn McCubbin, Chair of Illustration and Chair of Comics & Narrative Practice

Job Description: Building on the techniques, methods, and concepts introduced in Drawing Methods, Drawing for Entertainment Design employs visual hierarchies, sequencing, and narrative elements to tell a story. Projects move through progressively complex methods of composition and creative problem solving, which include the examination of the creative process and ideation, concept research, development, and actuation. Using both traditional and digital media, as well as a hybrid of the two, students will explore a variety of compositional strategies and creative applications while technical skills are explored and expanded upon. Other responsibilities include classroom management, timely grading, availability to meet with students outside of class, recording attendance, daily construction of classroom set up in order to foster an environment that is safe, respectful, and creative, as well as support CCAD's mission.

! WORKSHOPS - PARTICIPATED !

Self Publish, Be Happy - Online Masterclass: Contemporary Photography and Feminism

Led by Carmen Winant / Hosted by Bruno Ceschel; a masterclass on the nexus of feminism and contemporary photography. Contending in her own work with the potential of images to celebrate and problematize the terms of women's liberation, Winant asks: what is the shape of contemporary feminism? In what ways can photography act in service of and complicate its (sometimes contradictory) 21st-century mission? By looking closely at writers like Sara Ahmed, bell hooks, and Tithi Bhattacharya, as well as photographers including Justine Kurland, Cauleen Smith, A.L. Steiner, Erin Jane Nelson and Nicole Miller, Winant discusses her own evolving feminism, and propose strategies for giving consciousness physical form.

NYC 12 noon / Milan 6pm / London 5pm / Los Angeles 9am / Shanghai 12 midnight

Zoom: 2 hours - Columbus, Ohio [June 19th, 2020]

Self Publish, Be Happy - Online Masterclass: How To Work with Text and Image in a Photobook

Led by Nicholas Muellner / Hosted by Bruno Ceschel; "will explore the relationship between text and image in photobooks. Starting from iconic and obscure examples from the history of literature, photography and journalism, Muellner will address the forms and conventions of the image-text relationship as a source of inspiration and a point of departure or subversion. Muellner will then consider his own process of writing, photographing and image-language synthesis, using his long form book projects, including The Amnesia Pavilions, In Most Tides an Island and The Photograph Commands Indifference as intimate case studies."

NYC 12 noon / Milan 6pm / London 5pm / Los Angeles 9am / Shanghai 12 midnight

Zoom: 2 hours - Columbus, Ohio [May 22nd, 2020]

DrawNow! Online Workshop

Led by artist DJ Tiffany Shi and sponsored by The Drawing Center, participants will be "exploring the rich intersection between music and drawing, with Shi guiding participants in rendering musical scores with a curated playlist featuring Greek avant-garde composer Iannis Xenakis to contemporary musicians and graphical composers such as Wadada Leo Smith, Anthony Braxton, Yuji Takahashi, José Maceda, and Cathy Berberian.

Zoom: 1 hour - Columbus, Ohio [May 21st, 2020]

Red Thread Virtual Workshop

Led by artist Emma Brown and sponsored by 934 Gallery, participants will "create a 'life resume' while discussing the forms and function of what it is to create a resume, catalogue the past, and write the future."

Zoom: 1 hour - Columbus, Ohio [May 16th, 2020]

Self Publish, Be Happy - Online Masterclass: How To Design a Photobook

Led by Brian Paul Lamotte / Hosted by Bruno Ceschel; "Lamotte will offer insight into how to think about a set of images in the context of the layout (format, margins, typography), as well as considering the book as object through conceptually driven production decisions (paper, printing). Through books designed in collaboration with artists including Carmen Winant, John Chiara, Shane Lavalette, Charlie Engman, Nick Sethi, and others, he will discuss and visualize the process of how these books took form." NYC 12 noon / Milan 6pm / London 5pm / Los Angeles 9am / Shanghai 12 midnight

Zoom: 2 hours - Columbus, Ohio [May 8th, 2020]

Print Is A Pencil

Led by artist Jon Flannery of the Cincinnati-based design and print studio, Cryptogram, participants approached print as an exploratory tool for making images; exploring personal proclamations through the poster format.

Columbus Printed Arts Center, 5 hours - Columbus, Ohio [October 20th, 2019]

AUTO/UPDATE: Photography in the Electronic Age Symposium

An accompanying day-long symposium in partnership with The Carnegie, Northern Kentucky's largest multidisciplinary arts venue. "The symposium will examine photography and film in today's current artistic and political climate. This series of lectures and panel discussions invites international artists and speakers to review photography's part in the current global crisis of information exchange; the fate of documentary filmmaking in a 'post-truth' age; and will offer a historical and philosophical assessment of digital imaging, past and future. Panelists include Carissa Barnard, Matt Distel, Alice Gray Stites, Jo-Ey Tang, Michael Vetter, Kevin Moore, Fred Ritchin, Dean Kissick, Elisabeth Bik, Rob Horning, Nancy Burson, Michelle Kuo, Josh Kline, Lynn Hershman Leeson, Toby Lee, Jacqueline Goss, Christopher Harris, and an Artist Keynote by Trevor Paglen."
